

The wait is not as bad as you think...

INTRODUCING ANTICIPATED RETURN DATE ON EVERGREEN INDIANA

Want to know what number you are in the hold queue? Don't worry! While Evergreen Indiana is the largest public library catalog in the state of Indiana and serves nearly 1,000,000 Hoosiers, you count first at your local library.

Holds in Evergreen Indiana are filled based on proximity. In other words, the system will initially fill hold requests locally and then it will open the search to the consortium in general. So don't sweat the hold number. Your item may be closer than you think!

With this in mind, we think you'll love the new Anticipated Return Date feature that displays the date an item is expected to be returned to the library. Simply click on your book's "Copy Details" tab in the Evergreen Indiana catalogue to find out how potentially short of a wait until a copy is in your hands.

Please Note: Items are not guaranteed to be returned on the exact date displayed. The fastest way to receive an item is always to place a hold.
